LONGWOOD COLLEGE
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

*An individual discovers life.
Longwood offers many challenges to those seeking the interpretation and the expression of knowledge.*

*Ability emerges in countless situations. Discovery leads to growing self-assurance and cherished relationships.
Communication fosters a vital awareness of life.*

The personal ideals established during these four years prove invaluable in our future.

Students Fill the Campus as Classes Resume

Spare moments to chat and relax sometimes slipped away under the strain of tests, term papers, and projects, but most of us found time to enjoy the facilities of a new rec. Bright vinyl booths, delicious thick milkshakes, and a blaring jukebox provided an escape from the tensions of daily academic ritual. Others chose Longwood productions as their diversion. The Longwood Players presented classical entertainment when they performed "The Trojan Women," "Lysistrata," and "Othello" for attentive audiences.

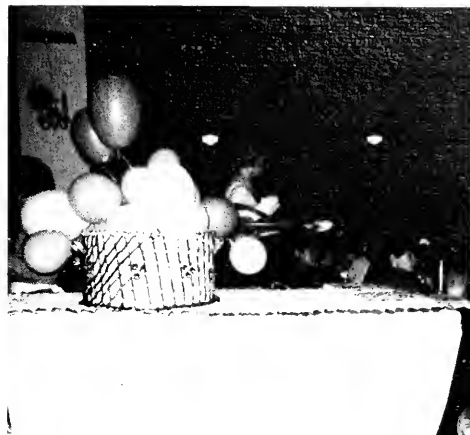

Geist Festival

Cake, concerts, colors and contests characterized the annual Geist Festival. The October weekend was dominated by the Red and Whites as they won the spirited skit competition; Donna Brantley, a loyal Green and White, was Mistress of Ceremonies. Organizations supplied entertainment and refreshments in the booths and exhibitions on the midway where Cherie Weeks served as Marshall. Not to be outdone by the thespian Red and Whites, the vivacious Green and Whites raced to outdoor victory in Color Rush by winning seven banners. Color competitions were not the only events of Geist, however. Hockey games, an art exhibit, a concert and a swimming exhibition provided more diversion. Both color groups combined forces as Blue and Whites to end the festival by sharing the giant traditional Geist cake.

Dominated by Red and Whites

Fall Activities Seek Academic

Autumn weekends found Longwood girls shuffling through fallen leaves on the way to view a favorite football team. Before each left campus, there were things to be accomplished: a new hair-do, a clean suite for those she leaves behind, a striking outfit to buy.

During the week Artist and Jarman series, such as the New York Pro Musica, along with classes and meetings, kept Longwood girls hustling. Tucking away the week's scholastic nature, students loaded cars in anticipation of the weekend ahead.

Farmville bustled with traits of the big city as Christmas neared. Filling the stores, Longwood girls searched for that gift for a certain person, a roommate or a boy friend. Brightly decorated doors, signifying originality a tantalizing steak dinner, and parlors seasonally decorated with cedar trees all carried the holiday mood. Decorations dominated the large Rotunda with its colossal tree, and the smallest room with its tiny manger scene.

But Christmas did have a serenity here with the selection of the Madonna, Christina Torre.

Freshmen Settle Down

As the youngest class at Longwood, the freshman class has undergone many new experiences. Orientation began the year with Freshman Capping following. Later members joined the YWCA and signed the Honor Code. Elections soon began with the freshmen selecting people for class officers, Freshman Commission, election and bulletin board committees, and representatives to the student government. The freshman class participated in many of the school's activities. It was introduced to and participated in the Geist festival with the class winning first prize for entertainment in circus booths. It sponsored in the Rotunda a penny throw and at Christmas all the class members "secretly" slipped into the Rotunda for a sing around the huge Christmas tree. In the spring the class gave its own Freshman Production.

Colleagues Help Introduce Freshman to College Life

Throughout the year, the sophomore class showed its school spirit by participating in and sponsoring various activities. In the fall it held a Sophomore Auction in which a wide variety of articles was sold to the student body. The class also sponsored a "Red and White Day" on which the class wore its red and white colors. Winning the Red and White skit with the senior class in Circus displayed the sophomore class talent and originality. In the spring the class set up a nonsensical "Sophomore Day" and presented a Sophomore Road Show which it presented to various hospitals and orphanages. Several times during the year it sponsored Red and White sings in the Rotunda.

The Junior Class was an active and enthusiastic class in Longwood functions this year. The rivalry for color cup provided much of the enthusiasm that surrounded the whole class. Participation in Circus and working on projects such as fund-raising bake sales were two of the class activities. Perhaps the biggest activity of the year was the Junior Ring Dance. It was then that the class members officially received their rings. Much hard work and preparation went into this event, and the success of the affair yielded ample proof.

Eloise Jacobs Presides Over the Class of 1968 as it Completes its Final Year at L C

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS Maggie Bridges, Ginny Daughtrey, Sarah Wright, and Eloise Jacobs set the pace for high fashion at Longwood.

In their last year the seniors conformed to the traditions of the senior classes before them. As before, the seniors began student teaching in the fall and spring. Capping in the fall introduced the new Longwood president to the class members. Next, the class participated in Circus and won with the red and white skit. Later in the year the seniors held their annual "skip" day on which the members skipped all their classes. In the spring they presented to the student body their senior skit. Finally came graduation in which the senior class members reached the final day of their Longwood life.

Colleges and Universities

Seniors elected to membership in the national organization "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities" excel in cooperation, leadership, and academic standards. They are selected by three nominating committees who judge them on their capability and promise of leadership in their future fields and communities. The organization administers a student placement service that seeks to provide employment contracts. "Who's Who" has chosen these twenty-eight girls to represent Longwood.

The Rotunda

The ROTUNDA, the college newspaper, strives to keep the students, faculty, administration, and alumnae informed of current campus affairs. Staff members are present at Longwood functions to insure the student body of accurate coverage. Published each week during the year, The ROTUNDA offers a variety of articles ranging from cartoons to editorials. Being a vital part of the campus, The ROTUNDA staff participates in many activities. It sends members to the Associated Collegiate Press Convention in Chicago and this year sponsored on the Longwood campus GLAMOUR'S "Best Dressed College Girl." Readers are encouraged to express themselves through the newspaper. It is a medium for the journalistic efforts and opinions of all students.

Scope Widens

Formerly called the COLONADE, the GYRE was founded by the English honorary society, Beorc Eh Thorn. The title was taken from a poetic image frequently used by William Yeats which suggests a creative force. The purpose of the magazine is to show the creative force that can be found among Longwood students. The GYRE strives to publish in high standards of literary form the results of the thinking and writing of the students. In order to do this, the new format of the magazine offers a more modern approach to literature and art. Art is presented not only to illustrate stories but to demonstrate the artistic creativity of the students. By publishing examples of the best art and literature of the student body, it offers a wide variety of works to appeal to each individual. Last year the Associated Collegiate Press awarded the newly formed GYRE First Class Honor. The GYRE publishes three issues a year.

Suzanne Strum hands Sarah Jones her copy of the Gyre and urges her to read each of the articles.

VIRGINIAN Takes On

To give to the students a portrayal of school life through pictures is the function of the 1968 VIRGINIAN. This year a complete change has taken place in the production of the yearbook. A larger staff has completed new layouts, written an explanation of each organization, and added more colored pictures. A larger photography section has gained new equipment and advice in order to produce better pictures to make a more accurate annual. Dr. Lockwood has helped with a class on photography for the members, and the science department has assisted in setting up the new dark-room. Members have worked to record each activity and organization. The members of Chi and the Senior Personalities are concealed until the book is distributed in the spring.

The VIRGINIAN also participates in various school activities such as sponsoring a booth to sell pictures at circus and making a donation to the Christmas pageant. Though the patience and guidance of the advisors, Mr. Gresham and Miss Bedford, the production of the yearbook has been successful. With the help of Mr. Burton, our publisher, and Mr. Hall our photographer, the staff presents the 1968 VIRGINIAN to the Longwood student body.

Betty Purcell and Judy Meadors work on picture identifications for the 1968 VIRGINIAN.

Was Chi caught red-handed?

Chi, a word that brings excitement and wonder to Longwood College students. But what is Chi?

Organized in the fall of 1900, Chi is more than an organization, it is an institution as old as the college itself. Its activities have changed over the years but its aim to uphold the spirit of Longwood has remained consistent.

Chi has given Longwood many things—the cornerstones of Edith Stevens Hall and Jarman Hall, the floor in the "old rec," the landscaping of the Dell at Longwood Estates, the directional finder behind the Library, the flags in the Student Activities Building, and the tulips around campus. Other evidences of Chi can be seen in the skulls and crossbones on the sidewalks, the banners and letters at special events, the walks late at night, and the bonfire in the Spring. But the real evidence of Chi can be seen in the hearts and minds of those who have sought its real purpose.

Honors Council Offers Tutoring Program

Ann Ailor and Margaret Lawson check records in the Honors Council room.

The Honors Council represents all of the honorary fraternities at Longwood. Its purpose is to persuade each student to seek every opportunity of learning available from the academic portion of college life. It maintains a tutoring service program and a file on graduate schools. The council acquaints freshmen with the various honoraries at orientation, sponsors an "honorary week," and sets up an awards assembly in the spring.

Elected by campus-wide elections, the members of the Legislative Board regulate all phases of student life. The Board's object is to discuss key problems of student regulations and find solutions to these problems. The members draw up rules, both social and academic, to protect the overall welfare of the students. They seek the opinion and cooperation of the student body to make these rules effective. The Academic Affairs Committee which fosters a more academic atmosphere at Longwood, and the Elections Committee, which takes charge of campaigns, elections, and results of these elections, are only two of the eleven committees that make up the Board. All of these eleven committees strive to promote a greater understanding among the students, faculty, and administration.

Numerous Judicial Cases Reviewed by Board

Myra Boone, chairman, happily tells fellow members that the Judicial Board will not have any cases to try at this meeting.

The Judicial Board is one of the three organizations that make up the student government. Its purpose is to execute regulations set up by the Legislative Board and to enforce the Honor Code. All infractions of these rules are dealt with by the Board openly or confidentially, depending on each student's welfare. In this way, the Judicial Board hopes to emphasize and instill in each student the importance of rules and the significance of the Honor Code.

The Social Standards Committee passes the dress codes, but the Judicial Board has to enforce the rules and deal with the offenders.

Dorm Life Made More Bearable with Help from House Association

The House Association tries to promote study conditions favorable to all students living in dorm situations. This organization also attempts to stimulate students to dress and act in a manner which is socially acceptable. The executive board is elected by the entire student body, and the officers for the dorms are elected by the residents of the dorms. It is the primary duty of House Association to enforce all regulations made by the House Council. All social offenders are brought before this body for consideration; action is taken.

The Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Mr. James K. McCombs, is an important educational and cultural part of Longwood. The thirteen members of the group, who are all members of the concert choir this year, presented two concerts. They sang in many languages works dating from the fifteenth century to the present. Since they perform with no accompaniment and no conductor, these talented girls demonstrate a most difficult mode of singing.

Members confer with Mr. McCombs, director, concerning an upcoming program.

By sponsoring programs, musical demonstrations, discussions, and performing groups, it provides its members with knowledge and interest in many areas of music education.

MENC members keep bulletin board in Jarman up to date.

Longwood Players Present Historical Dramas

The Longwood Players is an organization which extends its membership to any student interested in drama. The club requires new members to serve an apprenticeship before they are initiated as members. Because of the various opportunities open such as set construction, makeup, costuming, lighting, and sound, the members are free to use their diverse talents. Each year the Players in conjunction with the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs present four full-length plays, each of which has been chosen from a different historical period. This year the Players presented The Trojan Women, Lysistrata, Othello, The Miser, and The Ghost Sonata.

The Young Democratic Club is designed for students at Longwood who subscribe to the principles of the Democratic Party. The club stimulates interest in the members on governmental affairs and acquaints them with the ideals and principles of the Democratic Party. This year it sponsored programs on voter registration and discussions with several state officials and candidates. One of the speakers the club arranged to have was Lieutenant Governor Fred G. Pollard who spoke on current issues within the state of Virginia.

Lt. Governor Fred G. Pollard discusses state politics with Young Democrats' sponsor, Mr. Joseph Scholnick, and club president Mary Masse.

Young Republicans Create Interest in Government

To create on the Longwood campus a spirit of active interest in our national, state, and local government and to perpetuate the importance of the principles of the Republican Party in this government—these are the purposes of the Young Republicans Club. Chartered in 1964, the club is affiliated with the Young Republican Federation of Virginia. Among its activities this year were a district Republicans Barbecue, Campaign dinner, sing-out, mixer, and open house with a guest speaker.

Geist Carries on College Traditions

Geist is a German word signifying spirit, imagination, intelligence, and soul. Newly formed in September, 1966, the Geist committee exemplifies the qualities found in the meaning of the word. It recognizes and encourages, in all if its members, quality achievement in scholarship, leadership, and service. Its object is to promote college loyalty and preserve worthwhile ideals and traditions of the institution as shown in the activities it sponsors: the Geist Festival in October, the Leadership Conference and the spring Auction.

Honor Society Encourages Scholastic Achievement

The purposes of Alpha Lambda Delta, the freshman women's honor society, are to promote a high standard of learning and to encourage superior scholastic attainment among the students of Longwood College. Among the club's activities are acquainting freshmen with the purposes of the society and eligibility for membership, awarding a banner to the freshman hall with the highest scholastic average, promoting early study for exams and graduate school, informing students of fellowships and other aids, and recognizing all students who achieve a 3.0 average each semester.

Alpha Psi Omega Promotes College Theater

Alpha Psi Omega is the honorary dramatic fraternity at Longwood. Its objective is to recognize students who have done a high standard of work in Longwood theater. Membership is rated on a point system and students who work hard, cultivate a great deal of interest, and help the theater benefit are rewarded by membership.

Forum Promotes Faculty and Student Interest

Dr. Robert Havinghurst, noted psychologist, confers with Dr. Floyd Swertfeger after speaking to the Longwood student body.

The purpose of the Longwood Student Forum is to promote student and faculty interest in events of a political, social or cultural nature. It gives the student body an opportunity to discuss current events and world affairs.

The forum sponsors faculty and visiting speakers, discussions, debates, and panels. Meetings are open to the student body.

Marion Mowbray and Kathryn Castagna discuss plans for the next Student Forum.

Philakalia Sponsors Student Art Exhibit

Philakalia, founded in 1964, is a local organization for art majors. Its purposes are to bring an awareness of art and its varied areas to the student body and faculty, to keep interested members informed of scholarship and fellowship opportunities in the field of art, and to provide a greater interest in student art exhibits and student shows. This year Philakalia's activities included art exhibits at the Geist Festival and in the exhibition room in the library.

Turnverein is the newly formed Physical Education honorary society. It was established by the State Education Board on October 10, 1967. It contains Senior Longwood students and alumnae. Its purpose is to recognize, encourage, and maintain the highest standards of scholarship and professional ethics for women in the field of physical education. In order to establish itself at Longwood Turnverein held a physical education clinic in the spring.

Joan West, Jane Curl, Tommie Stone, and Carolyn Blythe stage a sit-in at the bowling alley while trying to think of ideas for the next Turnverein meeting.

Lambda Iota Tau Seeks Literary Achievement

Lambda Iota Tau is an international honor society for the study of literature. The fields of study represented are English and the foreign languages taught on campus. The Longwood chapter, Eta Theta, was founded in 1967 from our local English honorary society, Beorc Eh Thorn. To reward and encourage scholastic excellence in the study of literature and to sponsor programs of interest to the student body which emphasize worthwhile literary material are the purposes of Lambda Iota Tau. Among this year's activities of the society were a sophomore tea with Mr. Eyster speaking on creative writing and an open meeting with a guest speaker.

The purposes of Kappa Delta Pi, a national education honor society, are to encourage high professional, intellectual and personal standards and to recognize outstanding contributions to education.

Kappa Omicron Phi is the relatively new national honorary home economics fraternity. Started in April, 1962, the purpose of the fraternity is to further the best interests in home economics. The club teaches women how to develop higher ideals of living. It stresses a better culture, wider social outlooks, and higher intellectual attainments to emphasize the American home. Juniors, seniors, alumnae, and instructors are admitted to Kappa Omicron Phi when they have reached the academic and personal achievements necessary.

Dottie Heptinstall, Linda Burley, and Ann Reames discuss plans for the Kappa Omicron Phi spring activities.

Lynchnos Promotes Mathematics and Sciences

Lynchnos is a local honorary club for mathematics and science majors. It was founded in the fall of 1957, and its purposes are to promote interest in mathematics and science and to recognize those who have excelled academically in those fields. This year Lynchnos gave a tea to the freshmen math majors and sponsored speakers for its meeting.

In 1950 Pi Delta Epsilon was organized at Longwood. It strives to teach the ethics, techniques, and mechanics of journalism. By bringing the staff members of the publications together, it promotes better productions of each publication. Members are juniors and seniors who have served at least one year on a recognized publication. The activities of the honorary fraternity are such things as attending a national convention, securing a speaker for students, and sponsoring a booth at Circus.

Pi Gamma Mu Acknowledges Social Sciences

Pi Gamma Mu, founded in 1924, is the National Social Science Honor Society at Longwood. Its members, who range from upperclassmen to administrative officers, display outstanding ability in the field of history and social science.

First Row: J. Romeo, J. Blumberg, B. Cole, J. Rodgers, G. Wells, L. Rachal. Fourth Row: F. Davis, K. Campbell, V. Sly, V. Gunter.

Third Row: B. Eastwood, M. Carroll, S. Stickland.

Pi Omega Pi Creates Business Fellowship

Pi Omega Pi is the national honorary fraternity for Business Education majors. The purpose of Pi Omega Pi is to create fellowship among business students who plan to teach. Membership is open to almost all students enrolled in the curriculum of Business Education.

Members of Pi Omega Pi work skillfully in book auditing.

Sigma Alpha Iota Music Honorary Attracts New Members

Sigma Alpha Iota, a national organization for music majors, was founded at the University of Michigan in 1903. This year the Longwood chapter gave monthly musicales, supplied the music during meals in the dining hall, gave receptions after the Artist Series, printed and sold collections of school songs, and made a chart comparing the major events, men and characteristics of music with those of art, history, and literature.

Students majoring in Home Economics are eligible for membership in the Home Economics Club. The club's purpose is to maintain professional awareness and to present programs that will be beneficial to the home economist. Throughout the year, the club has provided various activities for the members which included a picnic, a bazaar, the distribution of Christmas favors, a banquet, and a fashion show. Each year a Home Economics Club Scholarship is given to a deserving Home Economics major.

Cahoots Freeze at Halloween

Cahoots is an organization of special Longwood girls. Its purpose and history are secrets known only to its members. Biannually it "freezes" in the Rotunda for the student body. Members of Cahoots are chosen because they attain "certain" qualities. The qualifications are school spirit, good looks, a pleasing personality and depth, and certain academic standards. In other words, members are JUST PERFECT!!

YWCA Sponsors Christmas Activities

Candy Dickerman and Jane Edmonson box up toys for Vietnam.

Centered on religion, the Young Women's Christian Association plays a very active role in the life of students at Longwood. It strives to serve those in need and in return those served will become members with the responsibility to serve others. At the beginning of the year it introduces freshmen to the role of the "Y," and through the year it sponsors many programs and activities.

Mr. Beardsley finds interested listeners following his talk on "Sex and the New Morality."

BSU Projects Christian Perspective on Campus

The Baptist Student Union is the ministry of Southern Baptists on the college campus. It encourages religious commitment and responsible church participation. The various activities of the BSU provide inspiration, information, and fellowship.

BSU officers for the 1967-68 session include: First Row: C. Crute, M. Thompson, Director M. Stanfield, D. Cole, J. Cage.

Canterbury Club Forms Choir

The Canterbury Club is a group of Episcopal Longwood students who are very active with parish work, the bazaar and other church functions. Some of the girls help by teaching Sunday School and singing in the Canterbury choir. Meeting once a week, the club presents programs that consist of discussions, speeches, and socials. This year the club presented an Evening Prayer service as part of the campus Union Vespers Program.

Polly Prince jokes with club members as Carolyn Cummins accuses her of evading the question.

Political Science Club Arouses Ideas

The Political Science Club was newly organized on the Longwood campus in the fall of 1967. Its purpose is to encourage in all students a better understanding of the full range of political science through all available media. The club worked vigorously during the year and sponsored several notable speakers including Mr. David de-Bainville, Regional Information Officer of the British Embassy, and a United States State Department official.

The Panhellenic Council supervises the sororities at Longwood. Its purpose is to establish standards of excellence in all of the sororities' undertakings. Each year it holds a forum to acquaint the student body with the Longwood sororities and then sponsors rush week for these sororities. During the year it settles difficulties that might arise between the groups. This year the Council sought to revise its constitution, enlarge and improve its Greek Week, and expand the number of sororities.

Alpha Gamma's Advance Versatility

Alpha Gamma Delta International Fraternity was founded at Syracuse University in New York. Since then ninety-five chapters have come into existence. The Gamma Lambda Chapter of Longwood became a charter member of Alpha Gamma Delta in 1959. The fraternity flowers are red and buff roses. The purpose of the fraternity is to show "that those who know us may esteem Alpha Gamma Delta for her attainments, revere her for her purposes, and love her for her womanhood." During the year it sponsors various money-raising campaigns by such things as bake sales and the selling of sorority favors.

"CHEERS! to our two wonderful Mother Patronesses, Miss Wall and Mrs. Cover."

"COME join us and climb the Alpha Alps to our little red and white castle."

Founded in 1901 at Longwood, Alpha Sigma Alpha was the first national sorority organized in the twentieth century. Fifty-one chapters throughout the country work to achieve the aims of the sorority: physical, intellectual, social, and spiritual development. The colors of the sorority are red and white, the jewels are the rubies and the pearl, and the open motto is "Aspire, Seek, Attain."

Selling perfume and magazines and giving a fashion show were two of the money-making projects that the $\Lambda\Sigma\Lambda$'s had this year. The sorority donates money and help to the needy. Each year the members give a Founder's Banquet, and this year State Day was held here with $\Lambda\Sigma\Lambda$'s from other colleges.

Alpha Sigma Tau sorority was founded in 1899, and the Zeta Tau chapter was founded at Longwood in 1935. The object of the sorority is to promote the ethical, cultural, and social development of its members and to uphold the open motto of being active, self-reliant, and trustworthy. The symbols of $\Delta\Sigma T$ are emerald green and gold as the colors, the pearl as the official jewel, and the yellow rose as the flower. Two projects which the $\Delta\Sigma T$'s sponsor each year are the gathering of toys and study materials for the Piney Mount Settlement School and the party which is given jointly with the brother fraternity, Chi Phi, for the Lynchburg Presbyterian Orphanage.

"Delta Zeta's Because . . ."

NO, I just work here!

Delta Zeta National Sorority was founded in 1902, and Longwood's chapter, Epsilon Tau, was established in 1947. It is the largest national sorority, proudly maintaining 171 chapters throughout the United States. The colors of the sorority are rose pink and vieux green and its flower is the Killarney Rose. The Delta Zetas at Longwood contribute to several national philanthropies such as Carville Hospital, the Navajo Indian Project, and Gallaudet College for the deaf and dumb. They also adopted a child from Kentucky to whom they give support. At Christmas the girls gave a party for orphan children and made stockings for children in Richmond.

Rummage Sale Supports Crippled Children

ALL SPRUCED UP for the "Roaring Twenties," Kappa Deltas enjoy another rush party.

"IT'S really just the thing!" advises Alice.

Kappa Delta Sorority, founded in 1897, was the first sorority to be founded at Longwood. The Kappa Deltas were also the first to choose to work with crippled children as a national philanthropy, and throughout the country the chapters donate to the Crippled Children's Hospital in Richmond, Virginia. This fall the KD 's held their annual rummage sale here in Farmville and as another fund-raising project, they sold magazine subscriptions. Each year the sorority sponsors a Parents Weekend and a banquet for visiting alumnae.

The second-oldest college organization for women is Phi Mu founded at Wesleyan College in 1852. The Gamma Iota chapter of Phi Mu was organized on the Longwood Campus in 1961. The fraternity flower is the rose carnation and the official colors are rose and white. Phi Mu's open motto is "The Faithful Sisters." Sorority members have as their basic aims scholarship, leadership, service, self-discipline, citizenship, integrity, and friendship. Activities of the Phi Mus for the year included a Christmas bazaar, Parents Weekend, candleburning for pinned or engaged girls, monthly work by volunteers at the Farmville TB center, a Halloween costume party, Founders' Day celebration, a Senior Day party, and suppers in the chapter room with skits presented by the pledge class.

Sigma Kappa Parties Given for Children

HOW did you know that hot dogs were my favorite food?

The Sigma Kappa Sorority was founded in 1874 and Longwood's chapter, Delta Nu, was established in 1959. The open motto of the sisterhood is "One Heart, One Way." The flower is the violet, and the jewel is the pearl. Longwood Sigma Kappas have had several activities this year. Among these have been bake sales, a Greek bazaar, a tea for alumnae and patrons, a Founder's Day Banquet, and the adoption of a Korean Orphan.

Sigma Boxes Brighten Christmas in Viet Nam

The Alpha chapter of Sigma Sigma was founded in 1898 at Longwood College. The colors are royal purple and white, the flower is the purple violet, and the jewel is the pearl. "Faithful Unto Death" is the open motto of the sorority. Tri-Sigma's National Memorial Headquarters is in Woodstock, Virginia, and remains the home of all Sigmas. As a national project, Sigma serves children through hospital building programs and other services. On this campus it includes such activities throughout the year as the showing of movies in Jarman, the sponsoring of bake sales to raise money for a special fund, and the sending of Christmas packages to fighting men in Viet Nam.

GREETINGS from the balcony of Stubbs go out to all at L.C.

SCHOOLMARM Sherry Grimes exclaims, "If there is one thing I cannot stand, it is excessive noise in my classroom."

Zeta's Hold State Day Here in April

Zeta Tau Alpha was founded in 1898 at Longwood College. In 1902, Zeta became the first woman's fraternity to be granted a charter by the legislature of Virginia. It was also the first fraternity founded at Longwood to become a member of the National Panhellenic Council. The symbolic colors of Zeta Tau Alpha are turquoise blue and steel gray, and the flower is the white violet. It is a fraternity whose foundation is based on scholarship, high standards, and Christian ideals. Each year the fraternity sponsors raffles and bake sales to raise funds for charity. It also supplies Easter baskets for children.

The purpose of the Athletic Association is to present opportunities for the student body to participate in various athletic and recreational activities. To promote its purpose, the Association strives to enhance school and class spirit and enthusiasm by sponsoring the rivalry for color and class cups. This year the club's schedule included an A.A. Field Day and Song Contest and intramural, class, and color games. As a reward for outstanding participation in the sports it sponsored, the Association recognized certain students by awarding them numerals, seals, and blazers.

With varsity, intramural, class, and color teams competing this year, Longwood was well represented in hockey. The sophomores and the freshmen split the class points, and the Green and Whites were awarded the color points by the Athletic Association. Our varsity team was undefeated. Five Longwood girls made the Tidewater College Hockey Team, and one represented the college at the National Hockey Tournament.

The Varsity Basketball Team this year played a long but successful season, beginning before Christmas and extending into March. Longwood's traditional intramural, class and color basketball began with second semester. Although the competition was great, the participants enjoyed the combination of activity and fun.

Awards Boost LC High in State

Members of the golf team often found themselves at Longwood Estate this year. With much practice and patience, the team competed with other colleges in the fall and spring. This fall the Physical Education Department arranged a Scotch foursome golf match between the students and faculty. Not only did the match provide relaxation and fun for the participants, but it also improved student-teacher relations.

One of the spring sports at Longwood is archery. Members belong to the Intramural and Varsity teams in which the competition is great. The two teams together contain eight archers which compete with other colleges. This year a new individual record was set, along with a new record in the Intercollegiate Mail Archery Tournament.

Champion Jane Erdman practices her shooting in hopes that she will maintain or better her outstanding archery record this year.

LC Dominates Tidewater Hockey Team

The Tidewater Hockey Team is made up of girls chosen from several college teams in the Tidewater area. Six students from Longwood were selected for the two teams. During the year the Tidewater team traveled to Washington, D.C., to play in the Southeastern Tournament. At this game one Longwood girl, Anna Pettis, was placed on one of the Southeast teams which participated in the National Tournament.

Dancing Stimulates Imagination

Orchesis is an honorary modern dance organization. Its purpose is to kindle a desire in its members to further their knowledge and performance of the dance. The organization requires its members to complete modern dance, participate in the spring concert, and serve an apprenticeship for one semester before being initiated. During the school session it has traveled to Richmond to attend a class, sponsored the artist series ballet, and presented its annual spring concert.

Swimming Team Ends Successful Season

The Varsity Swim Team finished a very successful season. As this was the first season Longwood scheduled home meets, the team received more support from the student body. It opened the season with an overwhelming defeat of Mary Baldwin. At the team's first home meet, spectators cheered it on to victory over Westhamp-ton. It continued to make excellent showings throughout the season. With the addition of starting blocks and lane markers, the team is looking for more members and another successful season next fall.

The Corkettes and H₂O Club presented their annual water show in March. The theme, "It's a Child's World," was developed through different aspects of life through the eyes of children—the beach, winter, school, candy, and other fantasies. Each fall the H₂O Club sponsors try-outs for anyone interested in becoming a member of the Corkettes, which is the apprentice group. The Corkettes participate in all the activities of the H₂O Club and are eligible for membership after being a Corkette for one year, participating in a Longwood water show, and holding a current Red Cross Senior Lifesaving certificate.

Longwood Welcomes Two Presidents in 1967

On December 1, Longwood welcomed its eighth president—Dr. Henry Willett, Jr. He is recognized for outstanding leadership in education, as well as civic and recreational activities. Before coming to Farmville, Dr. Willett served as the assistant superintendent of Chesapeake public schools. After having been graduated from Washington and Lee University, he went to the University of Virginia, where he obtained his master's and Ph.D. degrees. Since 1955, our president has served in various positions—junior high school teacher, principal, administrative assistant, clerk of the school board, and teacher of graduate-level extension courses. In 1964 Dr. Willett earned distinction by becoming the first Virginian to win the Finis Engleman Scholarship. However, we at Longwood know him for a distinction of another type—his being followed by his preschool sons so often. All seniors remember capping and the President, accompanied by his son.

Prior to Dr. Willett's arrival, Mr. Fred Wygal served for five months as interim president of Longwood. Receiving his A.B. degree from Emory and Henry College, he went to the University of Virginia to obtain his master's degree. He brought to Longwood forty years of leadership in Virginia public and private education. He has held positions at Ferrum Junior College, Radford, William and Mary and the State Department of Education in addition to having served Longwood as acting president in 1962 and 1963.

In a family get-together, Dr. and Mrs. Willett enjoy picture reading with their sons, John Todd, Rodney, and Scott.

IN MEMORIAM

Exam Anxieties

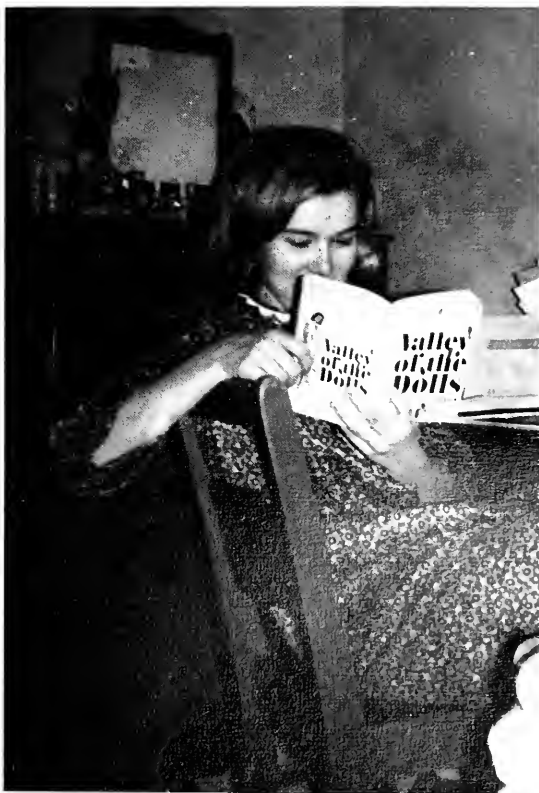

A longer semester break this year gave students welcomed relief after the frustrating three weeks between Christmas and exams. Complaints about the overwhelming amount of work filled the air. In addition to studying, elections busied many. New leaders replaced many old heads of campus organizations, and legislative and judicial representatives took over. Publication deadlines saw staff members racing from dorm to dorm for ideas for copy and photographs.

Shed as New Semester Introduces Varied Events

Junior Ring Dance introduced springtime for everyone at Longwood. Few juniors tucked away the onyx ring they had received in December until the dance, but each girl in her resplendent gown still felt the dignity of the occasion. A less awesome activity, the Water Show, thrilled spectators. Participants in black bathing suits glided through the water to the music of Johnny Mathis. Shorter skirts, fishnet stockings, pierced earrings, and striped dresses invaded campus styles this year, but the Home Economics Fashion Show offered students some new ideas about more conservative clothes and gave them tips on grace and poise.

Juniors Perfect Mardi Gras Dance Setting

Class and diamond rings were proudly shown off at the Junior Ring Dance in early March. Prior to the actual event, Linda Hudson molded numerous committees and held many class meetings to perfect the memorable week-end. "Soul Sounds" opened the Saturday chain of activities as a concert by the "Platters" ushered in the much anticipated event. Formal gowns and tuxedos adorned the figures as they moved through the receiving line in the Rotunda under the curious eyes of peeping freshmen. Transformed into a haven for juniors on this one evening, the Senior Dining Hall, decorated with ivy and flowers, reflected the theme of Mardi Gras. Couples danced to the music of the "Jokers Wild." A gourmet breakfast climaxed the long cherished day, which made the onyx rings official.

Several weeks prior to Junior Week-end, the student body listened to the melodies of the acclaimed "Sing Out South" group. Valentine's Day found Longwood students both sending and receiving cards and gifts. The post office bulged with mail signifying the occasion while carnations and roses crowded each dormitory office, before students claimed them.

Spring dreams finally were realized by students as the harsh cold of winter melted into the past. Pizza, hot dogs, and bake sales frequented the dorms as students attempted money-making projects. On weekends many Longwood girls left campus for home or other schools, while many stayed behind to enjoy the "Highty Tights," music recitals, or just to catch up on work. As spring break neared, thoughts of a week in Florida, Nassau, or just at home filtered in between efforts to prepare for estimate grade tests and projects.

Following a short vacation, students and student-teachers returned for the final weeks of school. The Miss Longwood Pageant and May Day preparations, in addition to play practices for the production of "The Miser," or "The Ghost Sonata" occupied the time of many students. As the season progressed, the students found time to enjoy the outdoors by spending a day at the lake or sunbathing on the roof, frequently setting aside thoughts of term papers and exams coming up in the too near future.

State Miss Congeniality Trophy awarded Rita

This year's Miss Longwood is a pretty, vivacious sophomore, Rita Matthews. At school, Rita charmed the judges and won the Miss Longwood title which provided her with an entry ticket to the Miss Virginia Pageant. Delighting the crowds with her dance routine and vibrant personality, Rita returned from the state contest with the Miss Congeniality trophy and a one hundred dollar scholarship. In Roanoke, Rita attended teas, rode in a parade; met pageant officials. We are all very proud of the 1967 Miss Longwood.

Summer Plans, Future Aims Forgotten in Preparation for Finals

Applications for summer jobs, unfinished papers, peeling skin, and graduation dreams filled the minds of Longwood students in the late spring. Any early April evening found freshmen searching the campus for a glimpse of Chi. Finally the sacred moment arrived, and the glow of an enormous bonfire illuminated the faces of the spirit of Longwood. The library filled as students made an effort to meet deadlines in each course. Amid the pressures of exams, friends packed away the treasures of one year or four years, leaving Longwood for three months or a lifetime. Those who will return look forward to more scholastic and social adventures, while those who will venture into a yet untested life of marriage or career have the enrichment of treasured memories as a guide throughout life.

Editing the VIRGINIAN has been quite an experience—one which I probably won't get over for quite a while. Last spring when I was asked by a desperate delegation to accept the position, I was completely unaware of the tremendous undertaking that it would be. Having had no previous experience, my best qualification as I look back on it now, I was easily persuaded to change my student teaching plans and to accept the position. From that day to this, things just haven't been the same.

Last spring we began the book by deciding to change the layout completely from those of several preceding editions. New ideas and suggestions came to us from everywhere. Perhaps the most helpful came from you, our reader. Misunderstandings have occurred in many respects, but we have tried to give you some of what you wanted. The wonderful cooperation of all of the departments and of the faculty members helped to keep things running smoothly when chaos could easily have set in. Many of the hours that went into the book were spent in the various administrative offices on campus. To these patient, patient people we remain indebted. Without the Lankford Building we could not have executed many of the plans that we had for the VIRGINIAN. Mr. Wood gave us full use of every room—and I believe that we used them all.

Our special thanks go to Dr. Lockwood who casually volunteered to give his services if we could use them, and who ended up conducting a short course in photography as well as taking, developing, and printing many of the pictures in the book. Mr. Hall, our photographer, did everything he could to fulfill our wishes and to meet our deadlines. Preparing the layout would have been impossible without Mr. Burton's assistance. Miss Bedford and Mr. Gresham, our faculty advisors, contributed moral support and constructive criticism whenever it was needed.

My staff this year was amazing. They accepted my orders on short notice, my barking when their results didn't suit me, and my temper as our deadline neared. They tired of my voice, even of my face—if I approached them, no matter where, it could mean only one thing, more work. They have put themselves into the production of this book; without them there would not have been a book.

I hope that next year the Editor, Jill Randolph, and the Business Manager, Joyce Temple, will gain as much satisfaction from the 1969 VIRGINIAN as we have from this one.

Joan
